

Utah Capitol renovation nearly complete

Feb 15, 2007

Story by:
Chris Vanocur
chris@abc4.com

The renovation of Utah's capitol is finally nearing completion!

After several years and 200 million dollars, renovation is now 75 percent done.

Most of the outside work has already been finished and now the inside detail work is underway.

David Hart, the capitol architect says, "It's all coming together. It's really a lot of fun to see it now starting to blossom and really starting to be what we had envisioned it being."

Work is scheduled to end in November and around Thanksgiving there will be a big open house for the public.